

Elena Keidošiūtė
Department of Jewish History
Bar Ilan University
elena.keidosiute@gmail.com

Elena Keidosiute, a current IUAP Postdoctoral fellow at Department of Jewish History, Bar Ilan University, is a historian of modern Europe, specializing in Jewish-Christian relations in Eastern Europe and the history of Jews in Lithuania. She was awarded her PhD from Vilnius University in 2015 and since then has served as a Prins Foundation Postdoctoral Fellow at the Center for Jewish History in New York and Visiting scholar at NYU. Elena is currently working on her first monograph tentatively titled "Jewish Conversion in Modern Lithuania: Transformation of the Phenomenon".

EMPLOYMENT

|                |  |
|----------------|--|
| 2016           | IUAP Postdoctoral Fellow, Department of Jewish History, Bar Ilan University  |
| 2015 September | Prins Foundation Fellow at the Center for Jewish History, New YorkVisiting Scholar at the Department of Hebrew & Judaic Studies, New York University |
| 2014 October   | Lecturer, History Faculty, Vilnius University  |

EDUCATION

|   |   |
|---|---|
| 2010-2015                                 | Ph.D., History, Vilnius University  |
| 2011-2012                                 | Research Fellow at Bucerius Institute for Research of Contemporary German History and Society, University of Haifa Israel |
| 2008 – 2009 <sup>[1]</sup> <sub>SEP</sub> | M.A. (with Distinction), Jewish History and Culture, University of Southampton, UK  |
| 2004 – 2008                               | B.A., Culture History and Anthropology, Vilnius University  |

